About Me

Hi there! My name is Alice. My friends call me Reina. I am a self taught home cook, recipe developer and food stylist who believes in the magic of sharing good food and recipes with friends and family. I believe that the best kind of food is the kind that tells a story and is shared with the people who matter most. My inspiration in the kitchen comes from family traditions, cookbooks, friends and places I have been to and would like to visit.

Outside my little corner of the internet in Nairobi, Kenya; you'll find me looking for any excuse to eat, travel and watch sunsets as I share the joys and mishaps that characterize my life as a young boss babe.

My hope is to inspire home cooks and food enthusiasts with delicious, tantalizing and I-can-make-that-too recipes. Let's cook something memorable together!

Let's get creative!
